

The Leadership Challenge

Characteristics of Successful
Start-up Company CEOs

SEEdling Program

Solutions for Emerging Entrepreneurs

James Bourdeau

585-263-1671, jbourdeau@nixonpeabody.com

Gregory O'Shaughnessy

617-345-1343, goshughnessy@nixonpeabody.com

Jeffrey Selman

650-320-7722, jselman@nixonpeabody.com

Todd Tidgewell

518-427-2705, ttidgewell@nixonpeabody.com

www.nixonpeabody.com/SEEdling

The Leadership Challenge

Characteristics of Successful Start-up Company CEOs

- 1 Fierce sense of ownership—takes ownership for the idea behind one company and the company's future. The CEO is not looking for validation or support for his or her vision.
- 2 Strong domain knowledge—has knowledge regarding technology or market that others don't have.
- 3 Great internal compass—guides the company through difficulties and has a strong sense of purpose.
- 4 Projects high energy and sense of robust health
- 5 Strong, nimble intellect—has a good combination of intellectual power and “street smarts.”
- 6 Decisive—always works toward a decision and does not get bogged down in minutiae.
- 7 High emotional IQ—has passion; projects excitement, enthusiasm and joy. Also “knows what s/he doesn't know.”
- 8 Can tell a great story—communicates a picture of a world that is better because of the company's product or service.
- 9 Strong integrity, values, and character—inspires trust and maintains it.
- 10 Loves to learn—has insatiable curiosity and inspires others to challenge themselves.